StickyMouse 2000 Crack+ [32|64bit]

----- This program was written for me to protect myself. I wanted to be able to lock my computer without having to put the password into the screen saver. This is that password. Don't try to make it too hard, at least 7 characters with at least 3 numbers and a * symbol.

***** The program can take a password and a password hint. Password hinting is done by the same method as the password hint feature of Windows 98. The password hinting is done by pressing the Alt+ F4 keys (i.e. an alternate left Alt+F4). ***** The program can password lock a desktop, a start button or a title bar of the main window. The title bar option can be used to password lock the taskbar as well. The taskbar is password locked by pressing the keyboard shortcut Ctrl+Alt+Del. The program will lock the screen after a delay of 5, 10, 15, 20 or 30 minutes. It can be used to set a minimum time to ensure that a password is entered when the computer is locked. The program will lock the application or program that the user is using when the program is minimized to the task bar. The program will lock the main window of the application or program that the user is using when the main window is minimized to the task bar. The program has a "press to quit" feature. This can be used as a security feature. When you want to quit the program, you must enter a password. The program runs in the tray. This means that the program will only appear as a small icon in the system tray. It will not take up a lot of room in the tray. There are options for a password hint, a taskbar lock, the desktop lock, the window lock, a password minimum time, and a password delay. The program has a system tray icon. The program's Help file is included in the program. The program has a "don't ask me again" feature. The user can force the program to remember the password hint. The program will not automatically turn the monitor off when the computer has been locked. You can use the program to shutdown the computer by clicking on the System tray icon. If you have no password and no password hint, the program will ask you to enter a password before it will prompt you to enter a password hint.

The Keymacro 3.3 application can record ANY KEY on your keyboard. You can record all the special characters, function keys, window/deskop keys, whatever you can think of. As the name Keymacro suggests it is a program to allow you to make macros on your keyboard. You can make macros that do just about anything on your keyboard, such as typing in words, copy/paste what you want, and many many more things. All macros you make can be recorded, and can be played back (such as when you press Alt+F4) or saved. You can even make macros that come off and on whenever a certain key is pressed on the keyboard. This would be for example if you wanted to lock your system in case the keypad is broken. It is possible to make a keystroke on your keyboard take no input, no command and even no keyboard output. Example: You type in your username and password in windows, and if it is correct you want to know when you do a specific key on your keyboard, such as the Enter key. If you want a macro to take no input, no command or keyboard output, you could do something like this: ` Enter ` Wait a second `* Use your macro.` This macro will not work unless you type in your username/password. I have been a Mac user for about 5 years now. This program is very handy. I have had my MAC for about 1 year now, and used this program a lot, i don't know why i didn't thought of it before now. This program is definitely worth the price of the download. Example of some of the keyboard macros i have made: After 2 mouse clicks: `^C^C` After 10 minutes: "Logout:" (hardware, turn it off) Alt+F4 Fingerprinting Mac Nicks The StickyMouse application was developed to be a small lockdown program. Just type in a password and remember it! and click 'lock'. The mouse will be stuck on the dialog box, and there is now way to do anything on your system without typing in your password to unlock it. The problems I've noticed from the previous version include: 1) After opening the lock screen it takes FOREVER for the "Lock your computer" menu to appear, even with a password being used. 2) After locking the computer using the "Lock your computer" menu it then requires your password to unlock it. I found an easy fix, I went to the "Disabled" property in the properties of the Application and unchecked the "Lock the application when the program is minimized or closed". It fixed the 2 above problems. Hope this helps and works for you. -jmac A: The stickyMouse application was written by Doug. Unfortunately the latest version of stickyMouse (2.
